LOCAL NEWS.

Look out for pick-pockets.

This morning two automobile parties left for Magdalena.

Joe and John Deegan were in from Calabasas last Tuesday.

Next Monday the International Gas Company will commence making ice.

C. V. Fowler is at Phoenix enjoying the fair. He motored to the capital city.

Rockwell, of The Palace, just across the line, announces a free venison Mulligan for this afternoon.

The report that Villa confiscated two thousand head of cattle from the Alamo Cattle Co., has not been confirmed.

Father G. C. Van Goethem contemplates giving a Carnival at the Bazaar tent, for the benefit of the poor of the city.

Tuesday Mrs. Dr. J. M. Harris of Patagonia, after a delightful visit in the city, a guest of Mrs. O. H. Weaver, returned home.

L. M. Raines, proprietor of the Nogales Steam Laundry, is nursing a badly poisoned hand, the result of a burn from a match.

Supervisor George W. Parker, accompanied by his brother, Duke, motored to Phoenix the forepart of the week to attend the fair.

News Thursday evening of the victory of Villa's army at Cananea and near Hermosillo, was cause for great rejoicing in Nogales, Sonora.

Mr. Eduardo Arnold, ex-president of Cananea, who with his family now resides in Los Angeles, has been a business visitor in Nogales this week.

This is the day General Villa promised to take Hermosillo. It is said he has between ten and twelve thousand soldiers, against Carranza's seven thousand.

J. A. Harrison, president of the Santa Cruz Valley Bank & Trust Co., returned yesterday from the state fair. Mrs. Harrison and the young ladies will return later.

Attorney C. L. Hardy is acting county attorney during County Attorney S. F. Noon's absence from the county. Mr. Noon and family are attending the state fair.

Monday Thos. D. Casanega brought to town from his Calabasas ranch a wagon load of nicely flavored apples which he sold like hot-cakes, six pounds for a quarter.

Dr. Ray Ferguson has gone to Patagonia to reside, according to the Patagonian. The doctor is interested in mining property near Patagonia, in the Santa Rita mountains.

Thanks to the untiring efforts of the ladies of the Catholic church and the liberality of the citizens of Nogales, the big Catholic Bazaar was a great success in every respect.

John Higginbotham, "Laird of Carbo," and Mrs. Higginbotham, have decided to spend the winter months in Nogales, to the delight of their numerous friends and acquaintances.

The Villa way of punishing "looters," is to be commended by everyone who believes in law and order. Last week Villa is said to have executed ten men caught looting in Magdalena.

Mr. Arnoldt, the expert book-keeper and accountant, who several years ago was a resident of Nogales, connected with the L. B. Fleischer Co., is sojourning in Nogales, pending settlement of conditions in Sonora.

Thanksgiving Day reminds us of the annual ball in benefit of the parrot school. It will be given this year at the Bazaar tent, on Wednesday, November 24th. Tickets, $1.00. Sandwiches and coffee will be served.

The wood supply in Nogales, Sonora, is becoming very short, and the water company may be compelled to close down as a result. Can't fire boilers without fuel, any more that you can run locomotive engines without steam.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen T. Bird, Jr., have returned from a visit to the expositions in California.

J. Fred Ryan, representing Morsen Dunnegan Ryan Co., hardware dealers of El Paso, Texas, was here Wednesday and Thursday interviewing local dealers. From here Mr. Ryan went to Phoenix to attend the fair.

G. VanMourick, secretary of the Sonora News Co., is here for the purpose of attending the annual meeting of stockholders, next Monday. Mr. VanMourick is a brother of Mr. F. M. Van Mourick, local manager of the company.

Some time Monday night, after smashing one of the large plate glass windows, thieves stole more than a hundred dollars worth of jewelry from the Sonora News Company's store on Morley avenue. No arrests have been made.

George W. Atkinson, the Calabasas cattleman, after spending a couple of months on his ranch, has returned to Tucson with Mrs. Atkinson and the children. They will spend the winter at their splendid old home on Main street.

Ed. Hainline, the Patagonia carpenter, was a business visitor at the county seat a couple of days this week. Ed. is building a residence on his Patagonia property. He came down to purchase building material for the new structure.

R. J. Lester of the R. J. Lester Company, Inc., is arranging to move into the company's handsome new home, corner of Morley avenue and Court street. Mr. Lester's company are agents for the National automobiles, here and in Sonora.

J. W. Miller, manager of the Patagonia Lumber Company, after spending Sunday at the county seat, returned to Patagonia last Monday. Mr. Miller was very enthusiastic over Patagonia's future as a mining section. He reported business good.

Charley Mills, more than thirty years a resident of Sonora, is a visitor in the city. Mr. Mills went to Sonora with the railroad. Later he engaged in mining and now owns large valuable mining interests in one of the richest sections of the state.

Patrick Arnold, the veteran traveling salesman, who for nearly forty years has been "making" Arizona, for a big California drygoods house, was in Nogales last Wednesday on his regular trip. He says Nogales is easily the best town in the southwest.

Wednesday a military train arrived from Cananea, bringing to the Nogales, Sonora hospital, more than two hundred of Villa's wounded soldiers. The big public school house has been converted into a hospital. Quite a number of wounded soldiers are able to be on the street.

Julius Kunde, one of the county's oldest, best known cattlemen was a business visitor at the county seat a couple of days this week from his ranch in the San Rafael valley. Recently Julius sold a bunch of white-face steers, for which he received the top market price.

The fame of the Mission Cave, Hanlan & Franklin's popular wet-goods emporium, a stone's throw from the international line, is spreading. The place is absolutely bullet-proof, besides being first-class in all respects. Free hot lunches served daily. You pay for the beer.

One day this week Agent Spriggs of the Southern Pacific Company, at this place, was offered a carload of copper matte for a carload of coal. The offer to trade, was made by telephone. It was a very tempting offer, but Mr. Spriggs was compelled to turn it down, to the genuine regret of all parties concerned.

William McComis, well and favorably known in this section and Sonora, where he has operated a number of big mining properties, is a guest at the Montezuma hotel, from San Francisco. He is here on business connected with his Sonora mining properties which he will visit just as soon as conditions warrant.

Mr. R. J. Lester left yesterday afternoon for Riverside, California, where he will be married this afternoon to one of California's most beautiful young native daughters. Mr. Lester is the popular and genial manager of the R. J. Lester Co., merchandise broker, of this city. His many friends wish him much success and happiness in his new adventure.

Monday night thieves broke into Joe Berk's Modern store and carried off goods valued at fourteen hundred dollars. Both the Sheriff's office and City Marshal Dumbauld's force, assisted by officers on the Mexican side of the line, have since been busy on the case, but as yet no arrests have been made.

Hon. Theo. Gebler has completed the work of repairing and painting his Grand avenue residence, where he has resided more than thirty years. Now "Papa" has one of the most pleasant, comfortable homes in town. He says the "latch-string" is always on the outside when his friends drop around.

The coroner's jury last Saturday sitting in the matter of the killing of Manuel Ynigo, the Mexican bandit, by Sid. Simpson, returned a verdict that deceased came to his death as a result of wounds inflicted by Mr. Simpson, in defense of his own life. Simpson was fully exonerated by the jury, which was composed of some of Nogales' best citizens.

On Friday night of last week, Mr. H. A. Corpe, the newspaperman, and Miss Rocina Weiland, one of Nogales' lovely young ladies, were quietly married at the home of Dr. and Mrs. H. W. Purdy on Elm street, Judge Gittins officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Corpe will reside in Nogales, where they have many friends, all of whom join in wishing them much happiness as man and wife.

Mike Hannan, deputy internal revenue collector, was a visitor in the city last Tuesday and Wednesday on official business. Hannan and a number of friends have acquired a good-looking gold mine in the famous Kingman mining district, which they will develop under the gentleman's personal supervision. Mike is a past-master in the mining game. He believes he and his friends have a big winner.

Harry McIntyre returned the forepart of the week from an automobile trip out near Indian Oasis, where he went to inspect a number of bat caves containing several hundred tons of guano. The guano, if found of sufficient value, will be hauled to Tucson, a distance of eighty miles, and shipped to San Francisco.

"The Wonder," is the name of another new store opened this week in the San Antonio hotel building on Morley avenue, by Mr. Ernest Fleischer, owner of "The Wonder" at Douglas, Arizona. Mr. G. Macalpin, an old-time Nogales boy, has arrived from Douglas to accept the management of "The Wonder." Mac guarantees all his made to order garments to fit. Mr. Fleischer says he will divide his time between Nogales and Douglas.

Georgia W. Bowman, lovely little daughter of Councilman and Mrs. Wirt G. Bowman, last Saturday at the Catholic Bazaar, was awarded the first prize in the Baby Contest, receiving a beautiful loving cup, presented by Mrs. Ferd VanMourick and Mrs. John E. McIntyre. Miss Jean McIntyre, a sweet little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. McIntyre, was second in the contest, and Catherine A. Horn, the pet of the 12th Infantry, was third.

Fred. Haas, the cattleman, who was held at Sasabe by Mexican bandits for a $3,000 ransom, returned to Nogales last Monday. He was released upon an order sent to Sasabe by General Obregon, the Carranza commander. Mr. Haas is none the worse for his nerve-wrecking experience with the bandits who threatened to kill him if the money they demanded, was not paid. Haas was at the Alamo ranch when Ynigo and his band looted the place. He says he has had enough of Sonora, for the present at least.
